STATE MASONS OPEN ANNUAL CONVENTION

MACON, Ga., Oct. 25.—The grand lodge of Georgia Free and Accepted Masons was opened Tuesday morning by Grand Master Joe A. Moore with approximately 1,000 representatives of the 800 lodges of the state in attendance.

William B. Clarke, Savannah, is scheduled to be elevated Wednesday from his present position as deputy grand master to the rank of grand master. He is 42 years old and will be one of the youngest ever to hold the position.

Mr. Clarke is a graduate of the Georgia School of Technology and served in the United States army during the World War. He has been active in Masonry for years and an officer of the grand lodge for eight years. He was architect of the children's cottage at Alto, which Georgia Masons gave to the tubercular hospital there.

He is a former master of Solomon Lodge in Savannah, oldest lodge in Georgia, and has written the history of that lodge. He is active in lay work of the Lutheran church and recently was sent as a delegate to the national meeting in Philadelphia. He is a member of the Masonic educational commission and is at present writing a history of only Freemasonry in Georgia in which he recounts the traditions and legends of the fraternity.

The Past Grand Masters' Association, of which H. J. Lettles, Atlanta, president, held a dinner at the Lanier hotel on Tuesday night.

Honor guests were E. S. C. Baker, Conway, S. C.; and O. Frank Hart, Columbia, S. C., grand master and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the South Carolina grand lodge.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR WILLIAM M. DUNN

PARROT, Ga., Oct. 25.—Funeral services for W. M. Dunn, 64, prominent citizen of Parrot, and one of Terrell county's outstanding businessmen, were held Tuesday afternoon from the family residence. The Rev. J. W. Ham, pastor of the Parrot Baptist church, of which Mr. Dunn was a member, conducted last rites and interment was in the Parrot cemetery.

Mr. Dunn had been in ill health for about three months and underwent a major operation at the Patterson hospital in Cuthbert on Thursday, October 13, death resulting Monday from pneumonia.

WINSHIP'S PROPERTIES ARE SOLD AT MACON

MACON, Ga., Oct. 25.—Properties of the late Emory Winship, San Francisco, consisting of several hundred acres of land in Bibb, Twiggs, Telfair and Wheeler counties, were bought at a foreclosure sale Tuesday by the First National Bank and Trust Company of Macon. Only one bid, that of $50,000, was offered. The bank was trustee for the Winship bondholders. The value of the properties was not estimated.

REPUBLICANS FORM BOLIVIAN CABINET

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Oct. 25.—(AP)—After the withdrawal of the liberals had defeated plans for a coalition cabinet today Franz Tamayo, as chancellor, constituted a ministry of republicans.

The chancellor was Bolivia's first delegate to the League of Nations. He is a journalist and historian. The other portfolios:

Finance—Rafael Ugarte.

Interior—Demetrio Canelas, lawyer and publisher.

Public Works—Dr. Enrique Hertzog, physician.

War—Joaquin Espada, writer.

Instruction—Gabino Vallanueva, former presidential candidate.

The reason the liberals refused to participate in a concentration government remained unexplained.

U. S. LOAN OF $5,000,000 IS SOUGHT BY MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The newspaper Excelsior said today a group of New York bankers and industrialists were in the city studying possible flotation of a $5,000,000 bond issue for reconstruction of the water supply, sewerage and drainage systems of the capital.

The group has been here a week and has had conversations with President Abelardo L. Rodriguez and other high officials regarding the advance to the federal district government.

The newspaper said American investment bankers have heretofore been cautious about loans for public works in Mexico because of sudden changes in administration. The recent change of government in Mexico was declared to have instilled new confidence, however, and the contemplated negotiations may be a forerunner to reopening of credit to Mexico.

AUGUSTANS PROTEST RADIO STATION SHIFT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The entire citizenry of Augusta, Ga., is "up in arms" against an application for removal of the facilities of radio station WRDW to LaGrange, Ga. Mayor W. D. Jennings Tuesday told the federal radio commission.

Mayor Jennings testified before Chief Examiner Ellis A. Vost at a hearing on the application of Allen Wright Marshall Jr. to construct a new station at LaGrange which they wanted to have the facilities of WRDW.

Renewal of WRDW license to operate on 1,500 kilocycles and 100 watts during unlimited hours was asked and the testimony heard.

The Augusta city council and a number of other Augusta organizations opposed the move to transfer the facilities from Augusta, the mayor said.

Mayor Jennings told the commission the station's removal would "decidedly cripple us," and before he left the hearing announced that he had just been informed that Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of the Augusta Chronicle, would arrive by airplane and ask to be heard.

Annual U. D. C. Convention Is Opened in Bainbridge

Addresses by Governor-Elect Talmadge and Mrs. Izzie Bashinski Feature Session.

New Postmaster

BY BEN F. MEYER.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP) In a flag-decked auditorium, the Georgia division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, gathered Tuesday night for its thirty-seventh annual convention.

With the Stars and Bars of the Confederate flag flying high and strains of "Dixie" in the air, the daughters met to transact the business of their organization and to honor some more the memories of those who went to arms for the southland.

The convention will continue through Wednesday and Thursday. The sessions all will be held, as was the opening night's meeting, in the auditorium of the Bainbridge grammar school.

Women prominent in civic and patriotic circles from throughout the state were in attendance as the bugle call formally brought the convention to order Tuesday night.

Talmadge Speaks. Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and democratic nominee for governor of Georgia, was the principal speaker on the opening night's program.

The colorful procession, in charge of Miss Phoebe Elliott, of Savannah, the marshal, was one of the events on this evening's program, which was given over largely to welcoming addresses and responses, and the formalities of opening ceremonies.

Mrs. Izzie Bashinski, of Dublin, president of the Georgia division, and Mrs. C. S. Hodges, president of the Bainbridge chapter, presided. Tuesday night's program included invocation by Rev. J. E. Ward, of the Bainbridge Presbyterian church; welcoming addresses by Mayor John Simmons, E. G. Elean, Mrs. E. T. Hines and Melvin Nussbaum, of Bainbridge; introduction of presidents of all civic, patriotic and business professional organizations of Bainbridge; responses to the welcoming address by Mrs. Frank Dennis, Eatonton, and presentation of the state president by Mrs. J. M. Simmons, of Bainbridge.

Introduction of division officers, presentation of Confederate flags, presentation of other leaders of the organization, and of officers of affiliated organizations, also were on the evening's program.

Business Sessions Today.

Business sessions will get under way Wednesday morning. In addition to the business sessions on Wednesday and Thursday, numerous entertainment features have been arranged, including receptions, luncheons, a barbecue, a ball, buffet supper, a press breakfast Wednesday morning, a musical program and other events.

Judge Marcus W. Beck is a speaker on Wednesday afternoon's program. Reports of various committee chairmen are to be heard during the convention.

The election of officers will be on Thursday afternoon. Afternoon sessions begin at 2 p. m. and morning sessions at 8 o'clock. Officers to be elected at this session are: Treasurer, historian, registrar and recording secretary.

J. M. Simmons, mayor of Bainbridge, welcomed the Daughters of the Confederacy to Bainbridge. "I offer to you the service of every officer and employee of the city and they are at your command to do everything possible to make your stay with us most pleasant," he said.

Mrs. Simmons introduced Mrs. Bashinski. "Our president has had a very busy year," she said "it has indeed been a labor of love. She has been to the four corners of the state giving us words of encouragement and love, and always with the interest of the work uppermost in her mind. We did well when we committed to Helen McCall Bashinski our most sacred trust."

The report of Mrs. Simmons, second vice president of the division, showed eight badges had been ordered by the following chapters: Dublin, Bainbridge two, Decatur two, Atlanta two, Jackson.

Medals were ordered during the year by the Griffin and Jackson chapters.

Mrs. Bashinski Speaks.

"As Daughters of the Confederacy," Mrs. Bashinski said in her address, "it is our high privilege and supreme pleasure to give ourselves to the work of gathering, treasuring and recording the true history of the south in a manner that will give to the world and especially to our sons and daughters, a correct picture and a correct interpretation of the Stars and Bars. The khaki clad legions who carried the Stars to victory in France were made up of the sons of men who wore the 'Union Blue' and the 'Rebel Gray.' Most of those who wore the gray have passed over the river and 'rest under the shade of the trees' and the few who remain have marched far, fought well and held nobly. It is our high duty and sacred privilege to make the rest of the gray for them while here as in green meadows of plenty and by still waters of peace."

Mrs. T. R. Ramsey, welcoming the visitors on behalf of the Bainbridge chapter, said that the south is the mother of this country. She furnished the first stars in the American flag, and the bravest soldiers who fought in her defense. American patriotism was reared in her bosom. She has given the nation some of its ablest statesmen, its wisest leaders, its most brilliant writers, and shrewdest counselors.

"In her charities, benevolence, religious and educational work no part of the nation excels her."

NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

OPENS IN TENNILLE

TENNILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—The Woodrow Wilson library, a public institution, where residents of any section have the privilege of using the books free of charge, was opened here Monday.

The library is located in the Woman's Club house, and formerly the books were loaned only to members of the local club.

Miss Beverly Wheatcroft, of Atlanta, representing the state library commission, spent several days here assisting in the filing and classification.

Mrs. Wilber Smith, librarian, states that in addition to the works of fiction, history and reference already in the library, others will be obtained regularly each week from the library commission to supply the demands. This week 100 books suitable for children's reading have been received.

A large number of reference works from this library were presented by the club members to the Tennille school library but other reference books for the use of the public will be ordered to replace these. A committee of several women will assist Mrs. Smith in the work of keeping the new circulating library up to standard.

TEXAN URGES CHANGE IN RAIL COTTON RATES

Will L. Clayton Sums Up Application for Revision of Schedule.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 25.—(AP) Will L. Clayton, of Houston, prominent figure in the cotton industry, summed up the application of the Burlington-Rock Island railroads for a readjustment of rates on uncompressed cotton shipped to gulf ports at a hearing before the I. C. C. and the Texas railroad commission today.

The Anderson and Clayton Company, of Houston, and other port interests have supported vigorously the proposed change, against contentions of interior compress, warehouse and other interests that the alteration would ruin the economic structure of the inland market setup.

Clayton claimed today the proposed

Paulette Again Denies Marriage to Chaplin

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP) Paulette Goddard, of the screen, shook her platinum tresses and smiled.

"Just too silly for words! A Mexican marriage? Why, of course not."

Thus she disposed of reports today that she and Charles Chaplin, silent comedian, were planning a secret wedding at Agua Caliente, Lower California.

She was non-committal, however, when asked whether a wedding elsewhere was contemplated.

A new rate would change the compress business from a sort of monopoly to open competition between the interior and the ports, to the ultimate advantage of the farmer. He gave figures intended to disprove an accusation that his firm had a virtual monopoly on the Texas-Oklahoma cotton business.

He said the Burlington tariff would divorce the compression charge from the freight rate, "where it never should have been placed."

MOWELL FRANTIC AS WIFE AND SONS CONTINUE ABSENT

Convinced that something tragic has occurred, J. A. Mowell, unemployed railway fireman, Tuesday night made a second appeal to police to assist in locating his wife, Mrs. Margaret Mowell, and their two children, Charles, 6, and James, 11, who have been missing from their home, 291 Rawson street, since Sunday afternoon. Mowell informed officers that his wife several times had threatened to end her life.

Sunday afternoon, the mother of Mrs. Mowell, Mrs. A. L. Phillips, found that her daughter and two grandsons had left the Rawson street home. In Mrs. Mowell's room was found a note addressed to her husband, in which she bade him "goodbye and good luck." Mowell Tuesday night said Mrs. Phillips was prostrated over the strange disappearance of her daughter and the two grandsons.

The husband told detectives a dramatic story of unemployment which had caused him to lose a suburban

Northern Irish City Refuses to Greet Wales

NEWRY, Northern Ireland, Oct. 25.—(AP) By a vote of 9 to 5 the city council today declined to present an address of welcome to the Prince of Wales when he visits Ulster next month to open the parliament of Northern Ireland.

Nationalists and labor members gave as their reason for refusing a statement attributed to Lord Craigavon, prime minister of Northern Ireland, that he had invited the prince to open "a Protestant parliament for Protestant people."

One member of the council said no disrespect was meant to the prince, but that no self-respecting Catholic could join in a welcome under the circumstances.

home he had nearly completed paying for. Lack of employment, he said, had forced him to surrender the home, and his wife had brooded over the loss for several months. Recently, he said, she had mentioned suicide frequently.

and inasmuch as efforts to locate her and their children at the homes of any relatives had failed, the husband feared she may have carried out her threat.

"PRINCESS ALICE" ROOSEVELT'S WIFE, PARIS PAPER SAYS

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Typical of the French confusion regarding the American presidential election was a two-column copyrighted article appearing today in Intransigent, leading a sensational newspaper.

The article explains that if Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt wins the election, "it will be due to the merits of his wife, Princess Alice Roosevelt, who is twice a Roosevelt."

"First," the article explains, "she was the daughter of the great Theodore and second, the wife of Franklin. As the woman behind the scene in Franklin's campaign she may realize her lifelong ambition of returning to the White House as the first lady of the land."

The writer credits "Alice" with being among the most ambitious and cleverest of American women, and a "real American princess."

When her husband was suffering from paralysis, the article concludes, she gave him the nickname of "Fearless Frank" and nursed him night and day for six months.

Pardon To Be Sought By Richard Gallogly

Richard Gallogly, who is serving a life sentence for participation in the holdup slaying of Willard Smith in a drug store here nearly four years ago, Tuesday filed notice that he will ask for a pardon. The notice was posted on the bulletin board at the courthouse.

Gallogly entered a plea of guilty to participating in the fatal robbery after he had been tried twice and the juries failed to agree.

Gallogly has been serving the sentence since April 1, 1929.

Charges Dropped.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 25.—(AP) Charges of larceny as bailed against Dr. William Doern, Milwaukee, in a real estate deal involving land near Daytona Beach, Fla., were dropped yesterday at the request of Mrs. Pauline Nagel, 75, complainant.

Funeral services will be held from the late residence on Lee street Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Loy Warwick, pastor of First Methodist congregation, of which Mrs. Cooper was a member. Rev. O. M. Seiler will assist in conducting the service. Interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

GREEN F. ALEXANDER.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 25.—Funeral services for Green Foster Alexander, formerly of Macon, who died Monday at Graniteville, Ga., were conducted here Tuesday.

Mr. Alexander had been in ill health for some time. He was 75 years old and formerly was in the plumbing business here.

JAPAN TO OFFER NEW ARMS PLAN

Program To Be Presented at Geneva Is Closely Guarded at Tokyo.

BY GLENN BARR.
TOKYO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A new disarmament plan, distinctly Japanese and differing from the American and British suggestions for naval reduction, is to be advanced by the Japanese representative when the disarmament conference resumes next February at Geneva, the Associated Press learned today.

Its details are a closely guarded secret, and not even an idea of its general character was offered. A high official said, however, that the plan will embrace all naval categories and will be sufficiently complete to stand alongside the proposals by President Hoover and Stanley Baldwin, of Great Britain.

The naval ministry already has drafted the plan and the cabinet approved it today. Immediately afterward it was cabled to the Japanese delegation at Geneva.

It has not been decided whether the plan will be made public before the disarmament conference resumes, but the delegation at Geneva or the ambassadors in various capitals may inform the principal naval powers of its details before that time.

On the basis of statements in the past by Japanese naval authorities, Japan would confine reductions to such vessels as are considered to be offensive war craft.

These include aircraft carriers and capital ships. There already has been a proposal to reduce the former, and it has been suggested that gun calibers of capital ships be reduced.

In the past, Japan has opposed further reduction of what she considers to be defensive vessels such as submarines, cruisers and destroyers. Japan has disagreed with America and Great Britain over the treatment of submarines.

BRITAIN MAY ADOPT 4-POWER FARTLEY PLAN

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—In quarters close to the developments of disarmament negotiations there was a growing conviction today that the British plan for a preliminary four-power conference at London or Geneva will be dropped.

There was comment today that Germany seems determined not to be drawn back into negotiations at Geneva, whence she retired because of refusal to admit her claim to equality in armaments with the other nations of Europe. It was agreed also that there seems to be little chance that the proposed meeting will be held elsewhere.

Nevertheless the invitations extended by the British government to Germany, France and Italy have not yet been withdrawn.

MRS. NINA W. GENTRY PASSES AT AGE OF 79

Mrs. Nina W. Gentry, for many years a devoted member of St. Mark's Methodist church, and widow of the former president of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, died Tuesday morning at her home, 1001 West Peachtree street, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Gentry was 79 years of age.

A native of Orange county, Virginia, where she was born September 15, 1853, Mrs. Gentry for many years was one of the most beloved women in the congregation of St. Mark's church. She was a charter member and had always taken an active part in affairs of the church and in the religious life of the community, her unselfish devotion contributing to the upbuilding of St. Mark's.

Her husband, W. T. Gentry, was a leader in civic and business affairs of the city until the time of his death several years ago.

Mrs. Gentry is survived by four daughters, Mrs. M. G. Popper, Mrs. M. Graham Phelan and Mrs. John J. Woodside, all of Atlanta; and Mrs. Milton F. Carlin, of Orlando, Fla.; two sons, J. H. Gentry, of Atlanta, and Thomas Gentry, of Coral Gables, Fla., as well as a number of grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, the Rev. Dr. S. H. C. Burz in officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

SMOKE AND NOISE SEEN AS ENEMIES TO HUMAN HEALTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Noise and smoke are taking a toll of human health because the public thinks they are necessary evils of modern life, the American Public Health Association was told today.

Edward F. Brown, chairman of the New York city noise abatement commission, reported on experiments conducted there and in Chicago to determine the harmful influences of a noisy city.

The blowing of automobile horns, jangling street cars, the call of peddlers, the hammering of pneumatic drills and riveting machines, Brown said, destroy the recuperative value of sleep and increase all mental effort of those within earshot. The change produced in the body after a time, he said, is similar to that brought about by old age.

Morris Cohn, sanitary engineer, of Schenectady, N. Y., estimated the smoke nuisance cost an average of $15 annually for every person in each large city. Efforts to curb the evil, he said, are often thwarted by persons who are most likely to benefit by correction.

20,000 PERSONS COMMIT SUICIDE IN U. S. ANNUALLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—The annual total of suicides in the United States is now approximately 20,000. Dr. Henry M. Warren, president of the National Save-a-Life League, declared here today. Head of an organization dedicated to dissuading discouraged people from self-destruction, he declares that "almost anyone contemplating suicide can be persuaded not to do it."

More than three times as many women as men kill themselves, he says, pointing out that the years between 15 and 19 are dangerous ones for women suffering "from emotional maladjustment."

"As women grow older, they seem to become more stable," Dr. Warren declares, "while men give in more often to the increasing pressure of responsibilities."

Mrs. George Woodruff, Crash Victim, Better

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. George O. Woodruff was reported Tuesday night as "resting comfortably" in a local hospital where she is suffering a serious head injury caused by an automobile accident Saturday.

Mrs. Woodruff suffered a concussion of the brain and was taken to the hospital in a semi-conscious condition, but improvement was soon noted, hospital attaches reported.

Mrs. Woodruff's automobile collided with one driven, officers said, by J. H. Watts, who was slightly hurt. The accident occurred at the intersection of Forty-third street and Beallwood avenue.

Mrs. Woodruff, the former Kathleen Koonce, is the wife of George O. Woodruff, noted in University of Georgia athletics.

Body Identified.

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The identity of a white man, killed by an automobile near here last Tuesday night, was revealed today in a telegram to police from the federal identification bureau at Washington as

L. C. Rogers. The telegram stated Rogers was sentenced to two years in the state prison in 1929 for "unlawfully entering a building to commit a felony."

Robber Surrenders.

WEST PALM BEACH, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Declaring he was "tired of running away," a young man who said he was Harold D. Camp, 22, of Dayton, Ohio, came to the county jail today and told of participation in a store hold-up and gun battle at Jeffersonville, Ohio, on or about September 20.

BALLOT BAN REFUSED IN TENNESSEE SUIT

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP) United States District Judge George Taylor today denied an application by John R. Neal for an order restraining county election commissions in Tennessee from placing names of congressional nominees on the November ballots.

Neal, as counsel for Charles C. James, had sought to prevent printing of the names on ballots pending the outcome of a suit brought to test the state redistricting act which is now pending before the United States supreme court.

LOUISIANA RECEIVES
NEW R. F. C. RELIEF LOAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation today made available $1,241,551 for emergency relief in Colorado, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Oregon.

The Louisiana governor received $280,330. Louisiana previously had borrowed $2,104,928.

The Louisiana loan is to care for relief needs in 16 parishes but said to be primarily agricultural.

The Oklahoma loan, $636,656, is to care for 57 counties and one city, which were not named. Oklahoma previously had borrowed $131,312.

SOCIETY WOULD SHIFT
CARE OF 300 CHILDREN

Officials Appear Before
Board of Control, Ask Remedial Legislation.

Officers of the Children's Service Society of Georgia appeared before the Georgia state board of control at the state capitol Tuesday and sought co-operation of the board in its effort to produce legislation which will place upon the state board of public welfare the responsibility of caring for the approximately 300 homeless children of Georgia now looked after by the society.

Among those appearing were Miss Mary Raymond, field worker of the society; Willis A. Sutton, Julian V. Boehm and Samuel Finley, officers of the organization. Miss Raymond painted a picture of the conditions faced by the society and the needs of

$50,000 IN RAW METAL
STOLEN FROM REFINERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Five men today held up employees of the firm of Castenhuber & Lehnfeld, refiners of precious metal, in Brooklyn, and escaped with unrefined gold, platinum and silver valued by police at $50,000.

The robbers entered the company's plant shortly after noon and herded the 10 workers into an adjoining garage and tied them up. Then, while two of the men stood guard with drawn revolvers, the other three raided a safe in which the metal was kept.

The hundreds of waifs, and Mr. Sutton and Mr. Boehm and Mr. Finley sought approval and co-operation of the board to present a bill at the next session of the legislature providing for state care of the children.

Mr. Sutton informed members of the board that only four or five other states in the United States have no provision for such public charges, and asked that the board assist the society in sponsoring such legislation as they sought. Judge Shepard Bryan, chairman of the board of control, told the society officers that the entire matter will be considered as soon as possible.

Agnes Scott Girls To Debate

Issues of the presidential campaign will be discussed from the standpoints of the republican, democratic and socialist parties by students of Agnes Scott College in a triangular debate with Emory University and Georgia Tech Thursday night. Agnes Scott representatives and their sides will be Miss Nell Brown, of Savannah, republican, at Agnes Scott; Miss Katharine Woltz, of Gastonia, N. C., democratic, at Tech, and Miss Elizabeth Lightcap, of Yazoo City, Miss., socialist, at Emory, who are shown above, from left to right. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Price of Accident Protection
Is Within Reach of Everyone

Does the traffic accident wave actually threaten you personally?

Is it gaining mightily in volume?

For answer read these headlines which appeared in The Constitution Monday and Tuesday mornings, telling of the terrible toll of accidents taken in Atlanta and the south in two days.

"Twenty-seven persons dead after accidents in Dixie states."

"Atlanta injured when hit by auto."

Here's proof enough to convince the most skeptical; warning enough to arouse the most sluggish.

Insure yourself. Insure now! Do not put it off another day!

The Constitution offers you the famous travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago.

This insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscriber going into that home at the small registration fee of $1 each per policy per year.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy. All this for only $1 registration fee—just about 2 cents a week.

The policy is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill. The reliability of this concern is proved by the fact that already more than $150,000 in cash has been paid on claims to Constitution policyholders.

This insurance is offered to old and new subscribers alike. One who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly, or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Paid-in-advance mail subscribers can also have this insurance by paying the small registration fee of $1 in addition to the subscription price.

Those living in Atlanta and suburbs finding it inconvenient to pay the $1 registration fee in advance can pay 20 cents registration fee with the application and 20 cents for five consecutive weeks thereafter in addition to the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of the beneficiary must be given and relationship to the insured.

Conference Executive Committee Sustains Ruling on Foster

Trojan Star, Turned Writer, Rates Red Leathers as Best Guard

Johnny Baker, the great Trojan guard and the boy who helped trim Notre Dame last fall, thinks Red Leathers, of the 1931 Georgia team, is the greatest guard he ever played against.

He says so in this week's Saturday Evening Post, the one which came out Tuesday, as all Sat. Eve. Posts do. Which is getting pretty good circulation on the claim.

It all goes to show what an impression a fellow can make even when he is getting beaten, 60 to 0, as Georgia was that day. "To me Leathers was better even than Jack Cannon, whom I met for 45 minutes in 1929," says Baker.

Baker appears in an article "told" to Braven Dyer, entitled, "Do Football Players Think?" He goes right ahead to prove they do in a most conclusive manner.

Football is being emphasized a great deal by the magazines. It may be necessary to call out the Carnegie Foundation and sic them on the publications who have found out that so far as America is concerned, football is the greatest game of them all.

With the article in the Post, let me recommend Barry Wood's article in last Friday's Collier's Weekly in which he describes how the players feel before the big game, during it and after. Some of it is rather old, having been used by fiction writers, but Wood makes it real. He simply tells it, stringing the emotions, mental and physical, together so well that it makes good reading.

And in Scribner's there is an article by Herbert Reed in which he rather debunks the idea of football "machine" and tells just how dependent coaches are on those stars whose ability is far above that of the average player. No one ever insisted on the idea of a machine, it being largely a descriptive word, but I have seen one or two teams which seemed to be machines. Reed argues his case very well and has some reminiscences which football men will like.

There is hardly a week but sees two or three of the better class magazines carrying some football article. Red Grange, with "Lo, the Poor Tackle," and Jerry Dalrymple with "My End of It," are just two of those which have appeared before the ones recorded here.

Baker's story gives a good insight into the championship Trojan eleven of last year. And while I think Red Leathers was a magnificent guard, he was hardly Jack Cannon's equal at covering the field and open field shoulder blocking. I don't think there was ever a guard who could approach Cannon at that. But at play in the line Leathers was probably as tough.

GEORGIA MAY MEET MANHATTAN.

Chick Mehan, that delightful gentleman who coaches Manhattan College this fall, after having put New York University on the football map in a very definite manner, indeed, is angling for a game with Georgia in 1933. Or so I am reliably informed.

Mehan has leased Ebbett's field in Brooklyn for the next football season. It seems that New Yorkers like to see his games. They did when he was coaching at N. Y. U. and playing his games in the Yankee stadium. Mehan is very close to the Georgia athletic officials. He is one of the finest fellows in the football business and a tie-up with him would not be amiss. He will soon have Manhattan in the major football class.

Other football considerations which Georgia was known to be figuring with as late as last spring, are Army and Southern California—in Athens. One of them, not both. I know that Dr. S. V. Sanford, the schedule genius who brought Yale to Athens, will not be content until he brings Army south—this next fall or the one following.

A NEW LESSON FOR THE BOYS.

There is a story they tell of the tough gangster who was being strapped to the electric chair.

And they asked him, just before throwing the switch, if he had anything to say before he went.

"Yes," he said, "this is going to be a lesson to me."

And this summer baseball legislation, now fermenting in the Southern conference, is going to be a lesson to quite a few of the boys.

There are two prominent stars, among others, sitting on the mourners' bench, just hoping and praying that nothing more comes of the matter. It was started when Tulane University informed Vanderbilt that one of their players, Julian Foster, had played summer baseball in more than the three games per week permitted by the regulations.

Vanderbilt is not investigating anyone else. Foster, while some of the players now in the conference played baseball with him, is not protesting any of them. It is a bit tough on Foster but his suffering is all over. The other boys are lying awake nights and perspiring profusely. They tremble at the sight of a telegraph messenger boy and worry through the day.

The summer baseball rule is a bit foolish. The boys are permitted to play three games a week. A few of them played scrubbed-up teams in exhibition games. There was no intent. But they played more than three games per week.

It's going to be a lesson to them—before it's all done.

MR. SMITH LIKES HUGE CROWDS.

All indications point to an old-time football exodus on Friday evening when the Georgia Tech band, football team and supporters board Pullmans for Nashville, Tenn.-O-Seam, and the Vanderbilt game there on Saturday.

Every day finds suddenly excited football fans demanding rates, hours and other statistics. And talking excitedly. It seems that Mr. Hugh Smith, the ballyhoo chief, who is to have people leaping out of airplanes, chasing rabbits, looking at fireworks and so on, has aroused the Atlantans. They are going to Nashville for the game.

The latest reports from Nashville are that Mr. Smith is to have three parades. One goes on at 7 o'clock the evening before the fight. The other is at 7 o'clock the morning of the game. And the monster parade moves at 10:30 o'clock.

Georgia Tech's steaming triumph at Chapel Hill last week, when the North Carolina Tarheels were swept from the field by the fleet Tech advance, has stimulated interest. And the Commodores, by finishing all square with Tulane and beating Georgia, two teams which won from them last fall, are still undefeated.

The roads are good and the railroad rates are $6 for the round trip. All of which means that a good crowd will be on hand. The Vanderbilt stadium seats 22,000. And Hugh Smith is already arranging to take care of the overflow crowd.

VICTORY AHEAD.

Georgia will be favored to win from Florida Saturday. The Bulldogs, after their splendid game against Vanderbilt, in which

GEORGIA TEAM IS AGAIN WEAK ON OFFENSIVE

Drills Against Gator Plays; Reserves Scrimmage Freshmen.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Glaring offensive weaknesses, which were big factors in Georgia's loss to Vanderbilt last Saturday, reappeared in the ranks of the Georgia Bulldogs today as one unit of the Georgia squad began the stiff offensive schedule.

Coach Harry Mehre has outlined for his squad this week. While the Bulldog first-stringers were getting a look at Florida plays as run by the Red Devils in dummy scrimmages, the second team, the young men whom Harry Mehre hopes to develop into a capable reserve unit, had a very unsuccessful afternoon against a tough freshman team. The second string line seemed a little bit hazy about what they were supposed to do on many of the plays which Quarterback Jack Griffith called during the hour they fought the freshmen.

The second-string backs had their play down pat and ran with a speed and power that was a threat to the eye, but when it came to blocking for a teammate their minds were, apparently, a thousand miles off. Bill David, the lean athlete from Calhoun, ran with his customary dash to-day and gained a goodly amount of yardage, but, like his comrades in the backfield, he did not look so hot when it came to blocking. Marion Gash, a fine left halfback, made some dashes through the line that carried him across the end zone. Money goal Al Minot was also very potent at the right halfback position.

VERY SHAKY. The second team line men did not spend the whole afternoon in a reclining position. Quite a few times they pushed the freshmen line men out of the way as though they were greatly annoyed at them. However, their shakiness, a great part of the noon and the ignorance of their plays quite justified Harry Mehre's statement that it looked like a September scrimmage instead of a late October one.

Yank Ludwig centered for the second-stringers, with John Brown and Sam Dyer doing the guarding. Crawford Gunnels and John West were the tackles, with Dick Simmons and Charley Turberville standing by at the flanks.

The remainder of the Bulldog squad had a comparatively easy afternoon. Several looked over those Florida plays the Red Devils presented for their education and enjoyed a nice, quiet dummy scrimmage as they rested up from the arduous afternoon. One regular looked over those Florida plays the Red Devils presented for their education and enjoyed a nice, quiet dummy scrimmage as they rested up from the arduous afternoon.

FRESHMEN STRONG. Several of the Bulldogs who saw action last Saturday went up the hill to the showers before their battles. They will be ready for action when the white flag is waved Saturday afternoon. Buster also was one of the group. The Buster plays so hard during a game that he is just about exhausted when it's all over.

'Gators Lose Star Back. GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP) Florida football took another tumble this afternoon, and all the important Georgia game comes Saturday.

Al Rogers, left halfback, the best passer and punter on the squad, is definitely out for the approaching game. A knee injury sustained in the first of his kind star back has ever suffered, will keep him out of play. In fact, he probably will not make the return trip.

Another blow came with the announcement from Coach Charlie Bachman that Tommy "Memory" Lane, star sophomore left guard, had been demoted to the "B" squad for the same reason that yesterday sent "Monk" Dozett, St. Osgood and "Dug" Bryan into the reserve ranks. It did not seem likely that Lane would be able to return with the Florida team from Tampa Saturday. Strict orders had been issued by Coach Bachman calling for the athletes to make the return trip.

O. D. Goodyear, right end, who had X-ray pictures made of an injury yesterday, was not out today, but it is reported he will be able to play. The condition of Gene Butler, right end, was pronounced satisfactory, but "Chuck" Rogers, left end, was limping badly, but was not in uniform.

The Gators spent the afternoon in polishing their offense in shadow scrimmages. "We need real scrimmage badly," Coach Bachman said, "but we simply cannot run the risk of injuring further injuries." After this type of work the Floridians went through a lengthy drill with signals, remaining at practice until dusk.

The squad entrains Thursday for Athens.

Chocolate's Fight Halted by Commish

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Kid Chocolate's ten-round bout with Harry Blittman, scheduled for Thursday night, was called off today and the Cuban negro was suspended for a week for arriving within the time specified by the state boxing commission's rules.

Boxing Commissioner Al A. Day ordered the suspension and recommended to the state commission that the order be kept in force for one year. Chocolate will be given a hearing in Lansing November 3, if he wishes to state his case.

A few weeks ago, a bout between Chocolate and Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, was twice postponed because of delayed arrival, which was then attributed to a quarrel between the kid and his manager, Luis Quieteres.

TRAINER RESIGNS.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Bennet Crech, trainer for W. R. Coe since 1920, has resigned his connection with Coe's race horse stable, effective at the close of the Bowie meet next month.

PREP ELEVENS ARE DIGGING IN

Boys' High, Tech High and G. M. A. are contemplating no changes in their football teams as they prepare for hard games Friday and Saturday afternoon and tonight. The coaches, while not completely satisfied with games of last week, were content to string along with the same lineups for at least another week.

Tech High journeys to Charlotte, N. C. for another game with Charlotte High school, G. M. A. goes to Chantanooga to meet Baylor school and Boys' High returns to the city for local fans at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at Ponce de Leon park against Lanier High.

Other games for the week are: Union city school and Decatur, Friday night at Decatur; Marietta and Russell, Friday afternoon at East Point; and Fulton at Rome, Friday afternoon.

With both Tech High and G. M. A. on foreign excursions, particularly at a session will be entered in the Boys' High-Lanier High scrap Friday night at Ponce de Leon park, and it should be one of the best of the season thus far.

Darlington school held Boys' High to a scoreless tie and came back strong the next week and defeated Lanier High, 25 to 0. The Ponce took a long trip to Miami, Fla., and defeated the Florida state champions, 21 to 14, Saturday afternoon.

Boys' High is particularly anxious to win Friday's game with Lanier High, for not since 1928, when the Hurricane won 32 to 7, has the Atlanta team scored a victory over the Central City eleven. Of the past 15 games between the two of the oldest prep rivals in the state, Boys' High won eight, Lanier won four and three others have resulted in ties.

Lanier High is probably the most improved prep football team in the state. Lanier's record this season in the Darlington game, according to Coach Selby Buck, and they settled down to some hard work and won the Miami game against a much more experienced team.

A large delegation of Macdon fans will accompany the Lanier High team here Friday.

FRESHMEN WANT STAGG TO STAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Virtually every member of the freshman football squad, who entered the University of Chicago, to play football under the "old man" Stagg, had signed the petition asking that A. A. Stagg be retained as head football coach.

Along with the 30 yearlings who signed, 31 members of the varsity squad, 198 members of 11 fraternities and 70 from other groups had added their names to the request. The petition signed by the freshmen reads:

"We, the undersigned freshmen, entered the University of Chicago with the hope that we might play football under the 'Old Man.' The ideals for which he stands and the opportunity to come under his influence in associating with him, were deciding factors in making our choice.

"We feel we can gain much from playing under Mr. Stagg and hope the chance will not be taken away.

"Respectfully we ask that the 'Old Man' be retained as our coach."

The petition will be presented to President Roy Maynard Hutchins, the board of trustees, and N. V. Morrell, who will succeed Mr. Stagg as director of athletics when the latter is retired because of the 70-year age limit for next June, the order of the "C" late this week.

Fitzgerald Works For Moultrie Game. FITZGERALD, Ga., Oct. 25.—The Purple Hurricane of Fitzgerald High got down to real hard work Monday for one of their most important games of the season and the outstanding game in the Southwest Georgia conference this week. The foes of the Hurricane will be the Moultrie High Packers, whom the Purple and Gold has beaten only once in 14 years. At least a tough battle is expected Friday. The Hurricane's first and only win over them was in 1930 when Fitzgerald won the southwest Georgia crown.

Fitzgerald, thus far undefeated, is one of only four teams in the conference with clean records. Albany, Thomasville and Valdosta are unbeaten contenders for the championship.

Heroes Are Born?

How About Lester? CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Don't be too quick to criticize if the star player of your favorite football team sometimes fails to show his usual prowess.

Maybe, like 18-year-old Lester Foltson, he's a little bit weak from loss of blood—blood given, just before the game, to a fellow player who was hurt.

Lester's friends at Collingwood High school found out today he played the entire game against Cleveland Heights recently, only a few hours after giving a pint of his blood to his father, ill in a hospital. And another pint, just four weeks earlier.

Lester's coach did not learn of the transfusions until after Collingwood's victory over Cleveland Heights, when Young Fulton at left tackle throughout, came out of the game the victor. Fearing he would have been kept out of the game, Lester had kept the transfusions a secret.

WHAT'S THIS? AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Bohn Hilliard, star halfback of the University of Texas football team, was suit today for a divorce from his wife, Sallie Hilliard, alleging cruelty. They have an infant son.

Returns to Cardinals

After a somewhat hectic trip around the National league Rogers Hornsby, the "Forgotten Man," returns to the St. Louis Cardinal camp once more—as a player only. Hornsby piloted the Cards to a world championship in 1926. The return of Hornsby is expected to clear up some of Manager Street's problems on the field. (Story on next page.)

Tunney a 'Smart One,' Says Ad, Ex-Fighter Warren, Former Tarheel and Now Duke Coach, Says Gene Did Right Thing.

By Jimmy Jones. Addition Warren, the North Carolina football player who once aspired to the heavyweight boxing throne, has given up fighting for good and all. "The game is too rough for a college man and as for me I would much rather coach."

That was the statement Add had to make on the sport which W. O. McGeehan so delightfully dubbed "modified murder."

The big Tarheel was encountered at the Georgia Tech-North Carolina football game last Saturday, looking on with deep absorption. He was immaculately dressed but the cauliflower ears gave him away. The writer who knew Add when he was campaigning under the banner of James (Bow-Tie) Bronson hastened down to greet him.

"Yes, I am through with it," he said, but a badly injured fighter available but if a fellow is smart he won't keep on taking them."

Warren wasn't in the boxing business for very long. He was a tough, fellow, who could take it. For a while Madison Square Garden looked kindly upon this new southern heavyweight, and gave him some bouts.

Bronson took him to New York frequently. For a time he was mentioned as an opponent for Stirling. Possibly, he was pushed along a bit fast. At any rate he was not ready for the big matches when he got them, one or two setbacks took some of the heart out of Warren.

COACH AT DUKE. "Now I'd back it, college, but not as a student," Warren said. He explained that he was coach of boxing at Duke University, in Durham. He would like to arrange some inter-collegiate bouts between his fighters and those of Mike Chambers at Georgia Tech. But the latter school sanctions only intramural boxing, outside of the annual tournaments.

In the northern sector of the conference, college boxing has become very popular. Warren said. At the University of Virginia, boxing out-draws all other sports.

As for himself, Warren visions no more active campaigning. He believes that Gene Tunney is the only smart fighter the game has had.

"He had sense enough to quit at his peak and the others haven't," he said, but obviously was speaking for Leonard, Dempsey and a few other former idols who tried to come back and failed.

Warren was keenly interested in the Stirling fight. He wanted to know how the Georgia heavyweight was faring in Australia. When informed that he was doing pretty well, he added that he was not ready to hear of "I would like to have seen him go to the top, but apparently he will have to go a long way now before he gets back," he stated.

ATTRACTION.

Incidentally, Warren and Stirling are the only two southern heavyweights to attract any national notice in recent years. Joe Knight, a Cairo (Ga.) youth, seems to be headed for some real success as a light-heavyweight.

With Warren retired and Stirling overseas, it looks as if Dixie will have to wait a long time before another heavyweight bobs up to gain notice down this way. The fierce fortunes have been unkind to college boys and there have been a few other former idols who tried to come back and failed.

RABBIT BACKS DOTTING 'BIG SIX'

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Perhaps it's the new rules, maybe it's a general trend toward open football—but the "rabbit" backs are stealing show from the older team mates in the Big Six conference this fall.

Nebraska's flying midlets—Chris Mathis and Carlyle Stans—gave the spectators their big thrills in the Cornhusker victory over Kansas at Lawrence last Saturday when the Nebraska power was at low ebb because of injuries.

Mathis, 147 pounds heavy, tore to the goal line from midfield for one touchdown, and Stans, 151-pound fullback, skirted end for another. Mathis was entrusted with the responsible safety position.

At Oklahoma, Coach Lewis Harlage has a pair of slipper, rabbit brothers—Bill and Art Parson. Bill, the older of the two, who weighs only 145, compared with Art's 155, recd. to a touchdown against Kansas in his post.

Mathis did, from the middle of the gridiron. When Bill was absent last Saturday from the Souther-Kansas State game, Stans stepped into a pass and secured a touchdown. Oklahoma's other first-string ponies are Al Walker, 145 pounds, and Dick Simms, who, at 165 pounds, rates almost as a full-size griddle.

Iowa State's big star is a little full, too. He is Dick Grefe, All-Big Six, quarterback. His son and he weigh only 157. He has scored two touchdowns and an extra point and it was his kicking toe that accounted for two one-point decisions last year that gave the Cyclones the runner-up honor.

Kansas State's entrant in the rabbit backfield aggregation is Emmett Breen, napper, blocker and hell-lugger, who weighs 160. Captain Walter Ziecker, 170-pound Kansas State guard, holds his position despite the fact there are several larger candidates for his post.

Dick Weaver, 150-pound halfback, has become a regular replacement in the Kansas lineup.

At Missouri, where they used to present some fine pony backfield combinations, Coach Frank Carideo has a trio of shifty midlets—Fred and Ed Weaver, 130 pounds each, and George Stuber, a 151-pounder—all of whom are younger brothers of former Tiger stars.

By the Associated Press.

Duke's stout defense has caused apprehension in the Tennessee football camp.

Major Bob Neyland fears Duke has been underestimated and that overconfidence may prove costly to his Volunteers in the game at Knoxville Saturday.

Tennessee men have scouted Duke in three games and Neyland personally took notes on the Blue Devil attack and defense against the Forest Friday. He is convinced the Vols have no easy task ahead.

Since their victory over Alabama some Tennessee players may have looked over a Tennessee contest and toward only the Vanderbilt battle November 12. Neyland has warned them that Duke must be handled first.

Duke has one of the tightest defenses in Dixie. Only one team—Auburn—has scored upon or beaten the Devils in five starts this year. Duke has shown no signs of an effective aerial game and a husky line.

Tennessee certainly will be favored to win the second fight this year, but the going may be rougher than many expect. The Vols enjoyed a rest last week with Maryland College and should be ready to turn on full speed against Duke.

Auburn players, likewise, have been cautioned not to take the Mississippi lightly. There may be a tendency among the Plainsmen to let down after the splendid victory over Tulane, but to present this coach Chet Wynum has pointed to Mississippi's fine stands against Centenary and Alabama as ample evidence the Maroons will be tough. The Plainsmen will have Kirell in this game.

Virginia Poly and Louisiana State anticipate easy sailing against Washington and Lee and Sewanee. W. & L. has shown no signs of an attack all season and a crippled Sewanee team hardly can cope with the Louisiana Bengals, now distinctly on the upgrade.

North Carolina State's victory over Florida leaves the Wolfpack favored to beat North Carolina in their annual battle, but if South Carolina hopes to remain in the unbeaten circle it must reveal more strength against Tulane than it has shown in the past contests.

L. S. U.-Oregon Game Is Given Approval

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 25.—(AP) Official sanction of the Southern conference for the Louisiana State University-Oregon post-season football game here December 10 has been received. T. P. Hearl, L. S. U. athletic director, said today.

The contest will be played two weeks after "Biff" Jones' Tigers clash with Tulane and will be the first post-season game played by L. S. U. with an inter-sectional opponent in the past decade. The tilt is regarded as an initial step toward strengthening the L. S. U. grid schedule in years to come.

Pete Herman's Wife Dies at Age of 36

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Peter Gulotta, 36, wife of Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion of the world, died at her home here today following a brief illness.

The former champion's mother and father died earlier this year.

Mrs. Gulotta, formerly Miss Annie Leblanc, leaves in addition to her husband, two young daughters, Rita, 14, and Rosemary, 12. The couple were married in 1917 immediately after Herman won the bantam title.

Betty Robinson Resumes Training

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Betty Robinson, women's Olympic 100-meter champion in 1928, who nearly lost her life in an airplane accident 16 months ago, planned to start her second comeback attempt today.

After lying for months in a hospital following the air crash, Betty recovered enough to return to classes in the school of physical education at Northwestern University. Her first comeback try, an attempt to make the 1932 Olympic team, failed because of stiffness in her left arm and leg, both fractured in the accident.

She spent the summer swimming and taking special exercises, and today was ready to go back to work on the track under the direction of Coach Frank Hill.

Rams of Tifton To Play Teachers

TIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 25.—The Rams of the Georgia State College for Men, victorious 20-13 Saturday over the Tifons for four straight years, yet undefeated for the season, meet the strong South Georgia Teachers, of Statesboro, here Saturday on the college athletic field, the game starting either at 3 or 3:30.

The Statesboroans are reputed to have their strongest team this season. Two former Georgia State stars, M. A. Shaw and Cliff Hale, are the mainstays in their attack, and stiff competition is expected between the former teammates.

DR. L. C. GLENN, VANDYCHAIRMAN, GIVES OUT NEWS

Football Star Violated Summer Baseball Rule, It Is Decided.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP) Dr. L. C. Glenn, faculty chairman of athletics at Vanderbilt University, announced tonight that the Southern conference executive committee voted "quite decisively" to sustain the ruling by Vanderbilt coaches that Julian Foster, vandy end, was ineligible because of technical violation of the summer baseball rule.

A telegraphic poll of members of the conference committee was taken today. And it was on the basis of the replies received from the individual members that Glenn made his announcement.

The ruling may bring grief to members of other football teams around the conference who, unwittingly, have violated the rule in the past.

"I have not received the vote from every member of the committee," Dr. Glenn said, "but the votes not yet received, would not change the decision. A majority of them are in, and the vote is quite decisively in favor of sustaining our action in making Foster ineligible. I have already told Coach McGugin that the action of the Vanderbilt coaches has been sustained."

Dr. Glenn said that he understood "on what I regard as reliable information," that a number of other conference athletes played on teams in the same league in which Foster played, or on other small town and industrial semi-professional teams.

"With this ruling," he continued, "these athletes are equally ineligible with Foster. Whether they will be investigated by the other institutions, I could not say, but they ought to be."

"Our situation emphasizes the need of a conference commissioner, a paid employee of the conference whose duty it would be to run down such reports as this and see to enforcement of the rules."

Tallahassee Club Protests Ruling.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Directors of the Tallahassee baseball club of the semi-professional Georgia-Florida league today wrote Coach Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt, protesting the disbarment of Julian Foster from athletic contests for violation of Southern conference summer baseball rules.

Foster, Vanderbilt end, was ruled ineligible for playing more than three games a week with the Tallahassee baseball team last summer.

"We believe Julian Foster consciously violated the Southern conference eligibility rule," the letter said.

"He did not participate in more than three regularly scheduled games per week. Admitting that he played in informal games which were not considered as having any direct bearing on the standing of the various clubs, he did not violate the conference rule. Informal games cannot be considered regular games."

"Before the six-team Georgia-Florida league season begins, the Tallahassee club, which has played 10 games per week, Foster and Close (Vernon Close, his Vanderbilt football teammate), quit the Tallahassee club. We don't consider that Foster either legally or morally violated the Southern conference ruling and we are willing to appear before any court or tribunal organized to hear his case."

SENIOR FINALIST IS P. D. MCARLEY

P. D. McCarley won his way to the championship round of the second annual senior golf tournament when he defeated Gus Monroe, a fellow East Lake player, on the 18th green Tuesday afternoon at Ansley Park. McCarley won the second flight title, and will meet the winner of the Bob Jones-James Floyd match for the title during the latter part of the week.

Bob Jones, a Georgia amateur, plays James Floyd for the first flight today and the winner will play McCarley probably Friday morning.

The annual Scottish foursome for the seniors will be played Friday afternoon at Ansley Park and the second annual banquet will be held Friday night at the Ansley Park.

Hornsbury Signs One-Year Cardinal Contract

GABBY STREET CERTAIN RAJAH WILL AD TEAM

Frisch Slated To Go To Third If Rogers Makes Good.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The return of Rogers Hornsbury to the St. Louis Cardinals after a somewhat hectic trip around the National League circuit, may solve some of Manager Gabby Street's problems in organizing the former world champions for next year's pennant race.

Losing the powerful batting attack of Chick Hafey and with a parky Adams on the injured list, Street was confronted with the problem of reorganizing the team.

"Hornsbury at the club might be a good next year," Street said in discussing the announcement today of the signing of the "Rajah" by the Cardinals on a one-year contract.

The hole at third base with Adams gone is wide open. But Hornsbury is a second baseman. President Sam Breadon predicted that if Hornsbury wins the second sack here, Frankie Frisch, a Cardinal mainstay, will be shifted to third base, and with Jim Bottomley at first, complete the triumvirate. If Adams comes back, it will be difficult to bench him, however.

If the Rajah makes good his comeback, and his chance is increased with a sympathetic management, it will not only fill a hole in the infield, but give the Cardinals a former league batting champion who may supply the lack of the heavy-hitting Hafey.

Should Hornsbury fail to make the infield, there is a chance he might be kept as a pinch hitter, despite his late mediocrity showing with the bat.

Manager Street was optimistic today that Hornsbury would stage a comeback.

"Rogers Hornsbury is far from being through as a baseball player," Street said at his Joplin, Mo., home. "I think he's got a lot of good baseball left in him and that he'll be of real help to the Cardinals. I've always liked Hornsbury and I know he'll like me, so I don't anticipate any trouble from him. He'll be just a ball player, though, and will have absolutely nothing to say about running the club."

London Fight Is Offered W. L.

W. L. Stripling, Georgia heavyweight fighter, expects to carry his foreign comeback into England next.

This news was conveyed in a letter from Pa. Stripling, postmarked at Sydney, Australia, and received by The Constitution last night. Pa. stated that his son had received an offer from Jeff Hintz to box in Paris and London against a list of probable opponents that included Paulino, McForkingdale, Mueller and Otto Von Pohl.

"This will make a complete trip around the world, although we have a good offer to box in Honolulu on my way back," Pa. stated.

Stripling is well liked in the showing of Clyde Chastain, his other fighter, on the trip. Chastain, a light heavy, has won all of his five fights, having beaten Adolph Knorr, the champion; Johnny Freeman, of America; Bob Thornton, former Australian middleweight champion; Tony Gera and Elmer Jack Payne. Chastain fights Hintz a return bout November 3. W. L. has won four fights, two by knockouts, and may fight Hintz before leaving Australia. W. L. has never fought Paulino, the tough Basque, and Jeff Dickson thinks a bout between the two would draw big in either Paris or London.

AMERICANS LOSE.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 25.—(AP)—South American polo players drew first blood in their rivalry with the invading North American squad today when the Santa Paula team defeated the La Pampa team, which included two players from the United States, 15 to 7, in one of the opening matches of the Argentine open polo championship.

Argentina's national team of the United States squad, rode at No. 1 for La Pampa and J. C. (Cocle) Rathbone at back.

COACH WORRIED.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 25.—(UP)—With Hardy Francis, Harvard tackle, on the injury list, Coach Eddie Casey looked with some trepidation today for ways and means of stopping Brown's strange triple wingback formation from developing into completed ground-gaining plays. With five leading players injured in the Dartmouth-Brown game, Casey mused what was left of his squad against the junior varsity.

ARMY WORKS HARD.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Army's varsity went through a full-spread boxing drill in preparation for Saturday's game with the strong William and Mary eleven. Only "Abe" Lincoln, varsity tackle, was out of the lineup.

NAVY RESERVES.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Coach Rip Miller continued to concentrate on developing Navy reserves today as the varsity scrimmaged in preparation for Pennsylvania's Saturday. Substitutes Bill Clark, punting halfback, and Baumgardner, excellent ball-carrier, received much attention.

JOCKEY HURT.

LATONIA, Ky., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Gilbert Elston, one of the country's leading jockeys, suffered serious injuries today when thrown from Black Duke in the eighth race here. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Covington, where physicians said he has a possible skull fracture. X-rays will be taken tomorrow.

Tension and the Golf Swing.

One great trouble among some three million or four million golfers is this—they figure that having acquired the rudiments of a pretty good swing they are then in position to play a pretty fair round of golf. All that is new occurs to them then is the tension, mental and physical, and all the habits and faults of tension, is the great destructive force of the game. You know, and I know, any number of golfers who have excellent practice swings.

At least they know how to swing a golf club—at a dandelion head or a cigar stump.

But the moment they step up to hit a golf ball, every other muscle is tied up in true lover's knots and there isn't as much elasticity or resilience left as a hydrant carries.

And yet this goes on from week to week and from year to year, leading to all the main faults—tight griping—locked wrists and locked bodies—fast, jerky back swings—body lunges—head lifting—almost every variety of fault that burns into many a distressed soul.

Troubles and Cures.

In this connection, I ran into Alex Morrison today, who sent me a book, "A New Way to Better Golf," has broken all sales records for all golf books published so far.

In addition to that, he has had a busy time instructing the young and old in how to shoot.

And no one has given tension and its deeper thought than the good Dr. Morrison.

He related a recent case to show the baffling nature of the disease. A certain pupil had been swinging the club correctly—until a golf ball was placed on the tee.

At this point the pupil promptly tied himself into a number of gordian knots and planted the ball in the midst of a deep crisis, decked out in all the scarlet and gold of its autumn mantle.

This happened again and again. Finally, Morrison tried new tactics. "Just a moment," he said. "I can see what your main idea is about golf. You want to get a 10 on every hole and take all the strokes possible. The exercise. So let's try this plan—I want you to stop well over, get as rigid as you can and grip the club as tightly as you can. Then I want you to start your back swing with a jerk, lunge at the down swing, and lift your head. Now remember everything I've told you. Go to it."

The somewhat sore and embittered golfer promptly stood straighter, loosened his taut grip, swung smoothly and hit one 200 yards down the middle.

"All wrong," Morrison said. "You'll never get your 9's and 10's with that swing. That will give you 4's and 5's with a few 3's. Now what you do is this: A few minutes of that harpioning is quite enough to get the pupil swinging smoothly, with most of his old tension gone. Then I want you to try this plan—I want you to stop well over, get as rigid as you can and grip the club as tightly as you can. Then I want you to start your back swing with a jerk, lunge at the down swing, and lift your head. Now remember everything I've told you. Go to it."

TECH CRIPPLES ARE DEE TO PLAY AGAINST VANDY

Goldsmith, Cain, Pool and Others Expected To Be Ready.

Georgia Tech may be able Saturday to throw all its player strength into a football game for the first time this season.

The various cripples on the list are mending rapidly and it is beginning to look as if Jerry Goldsmith, who has missed two games hand running, will be able to play some at right end.

Trainer Mike Chambers reported yesterday that "Doc" Brady, tackle, and John Pool, center, injured in the North Carolina game, are improving fast enough and no doubt would be able to see service with the second team line if needed.

CAIN IN UNIFORM.

Tom Cain, who contracted a severe cold, was able to get into uniform yesterday afternoon after some vigorous treatment in the training room. Cain is a very valuable player and his return to the field is expected to put the team in good stead.

After going in for Don Thayer on the second team Saturday, he did good work all around, covering up for Thayer and taking the Tarheel safety man on one of the long touchdown runs.

For the first time, yesterday, the Jackets got a look at Vandy's intricate new shift. They accommodated for some time against Commodore plays, which the Freshmen and Grey Devils of Scott Mack Thayer, Jr., believed that Vandy's shift, which is a most unusual one, may give the Jackets some trouble, as it has given other opponents a hard time.

The line is the same, with Willie Bell Robison at pickard's tackle. The remainder of the end, includes Morrow and Craven, ends; Kenzie, tackle; Captain John Patrick and Marion Whaley, guards, and Rudy Shouse, center.

The Petrels scrimmaged against Manhattan yesterday afternoon and showed only a fair ability to stop the Mehan-developed formations. Metrick, husky fullback, stood out in the drill.

Coach Robertson expects to see Jim Larkin, Jim George, Metrick and John Putno, all backs, in the two-game intersectional invasion of New York state.

A final workout will be held here today. The squad of 25 leaves Thursday morning at 7:30 on the Piedmont. A week will be spent in New York.

McGUGIN FEARS TECH.

Mack Thayer, who is a most capable scout, studied the Commodore system closely, but he has a hunch that it is very easy to look around for the reason: we have had some criticism of our shift in the past, but so long as the officials find nothing wrong with it, I have no kick to make, he stated.

Tech expects a formidable opponent in Vandy. Coach Alexander, himself, believes the Commodores are very capable this year. He promises nothing in the way of a victory, but one may be assured that Tech will be well prepared Saturday.

Great Crowd Sees Weber Card

More than 6,000 people saw a free wrestling match at the auditorium last night, watching Pat O'Shocker with from Abe Kashay and Floyd Marshall beat Sid Nabors.

The match was free because Matchmaker Henry Weber refused to disappoint his patrons by calling off a match when an ancient and ill-fated match was called for $200 tax for the state on each wrestling and boxing match, was dug up and imposed on Weber Tuesday morning.

It came to Atlanta in good faith and have done my best to be a good citizen and stage good matches here during that time. The tax was not in force so far as I knew. It was on the books before John Contos and other promoters came here years and years ago and no one has had to pay it. It is a prohibitive tax. It means a promoter cannot show.

"You see, the city imposes a 5 per cent tax which is fine. And the federal government imposes an amusement tax which I abhor. And that is all right, too. And of course there is the state and federal income tax. And now to put on a flat $200 tax on each match makes it impossible to do business. There are laws prohibiting golf and other things on Sunday. There are many numbers of old laws, never enforced, that could be brought to life. I do not see why I have to be imposed on. I do not believe the state knows the law is all right, too. And of course there is the state and federal income tax. UTILITY EARNINGS BARED IN REPORT

Columbia Gas, Electric
Dividends Total $131,-
000,771 in Four Years.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—R. J. Ryder, commission examiner said in a report to the federal trade commission today that dividends distributed by the Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation from 1926 to 1930 inclusive, on a capitalization of $387,936,396 aggregated $131,000,771.

The corporation has headquarters in New York and holdings in operating companies in Ohio and seven other states. The report was submitted in connection with the commission's inquiry into utility companies ordered by the senate in 1928.

Ryder in testifying on his report said the corporation's assets had grown from $200,054,842 on December 31, 1924, to $470,616,135 on December 31, 1930.

Since its organization in 1926, he said, it had distributed $94,616,333 in cash dividends, including $22,845,000 to preferred stock holders and $71,771,333 to common stock holders. In addition, he added, in 1930 the surplus from acquired subsidiaries and other earnings resulted in the declaration of a stock dividend of $36,383,831.

The cash dividends, Ryder said, equaled "approximately 89 per cent of the aggregate net earnings for the same period."

The net income for the period, he continued, was $109,651,160.

Testifying on the increase in capitalization of $127,006,674, the examiner said it had been acquired "by issuance of $33,309,700 of bonds, $7,550,284 of preferred stock and $86,086,690 by issuance of common stock and increase in surplus."

As a result of this growth of capitalization, he said, the corporation had simplified its own and its subsidiaries' "financial and corporate structure" and during the four-year period had eliminated 20 security issues of subsidiary companies.

Ryder gave testimony that $30,000,000 of the so-called "write-up" of $38,000,000 in the stock of the Union Gas & Electric Co., Ohio concern, in 1907 was "reflected" in the cost of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. to the Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation.

When the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. and the Columbia Power Company were merged into the corporation, April 1, 1928, Ryder said, the Union Gas & Electric Co. surrendered 181,000 shares of its stock to the Cincinnati company for 185,000 shares of the latter's stock.

CITY WAGE SCALE WILL NOT BE CUT

finances for the remainder of the year through a councilmanic resolution several weeks ago. They reiterated a previous statement, Tuesday that all departments must continue to cut expenditures to the very bone in order to conserve as much of the available funds as possible for salary payments.

"Employees can rest assured that their salaries on the present scale will be paid," Wells said on emerging from the conference room. "We must not be able to pay them this year, but will meet them as soon as possible. We ask the co-operation of all departments in protecting the interests of the public and also in keeping other expenditures down to the very bone."

"It is going to be necessary to go into this financial business of the city again next year," Key said.

"In spite of the fact that nearly $1,000,000 has been saved this year, the greatly reduced income of the city has precipitated another fiscal crisis. We are going to be forced to carry over until next year some of the expenses incurred in this year's operation. We expect the co-operation of all employees to the end that none of the city services shall suffer. At the same time, no further cuts in salaries or personnel are contemplated at the present."

Rev. H. L. Turner Presides.

Presided over by the Rev. Herman L. Turner, the meeting opened with chorus singing. Rev. C. R. Stauffer gave the invocation.

Declaring that new blood was needed in the ranks of workers and that the cause of the depression was a breakdown in the morale of the people of the world, H. M. Atkinson, former president of the Chest, was the first speaker.

"Human nature demands," he said, "that new blood be injected into all organizations."

"The cause of the depression is clearly a breakdown of the character of people over the entire world. Destruction is ever the inevitable result of selfishness and we shall not find economic recovery until men and nations become unselfish. It seems the inhabitants of the world have forgotten all things worth living for."

"The Community Chest is the very antithesis of the spirit which brought us to this economic calamity. It stands for kindness of heart, generosity, love of fellowman and nobility and there is nothing worth living for unless we maintain the Chest spirit not only in and during this campaign, but everywhere and for all time."

"Character must be rebuilt and the Chest must achieve the greatest success in its history," Mr. Atkinson concluded.

Strickland Commends Progress.

Robert Strickland Jr., vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia, the next speaker, commended the "magnificent report" and urged workers to keep before them the speech made by Mr. Atkinson.

"This is not the darkest hour in the nation's history," he said, "and a review of the experience of our country will reveal many darker periods. And as for Atlanta, it is my belief that this city and the southeast have fared better in business during the last two years than any other city and section in the nation."

"This condition we find ourselves in is no fault of the unemployed, who are just as anxious to get an honest job as we would be. All of us have a individual responsibility to give until it hurts to meet this emergency. Conditions call for sacrifices and in this campaign Atlanta is on trial as never before."

"Let us have faith in America and Atlanta and arise to the occasion. Atlanta cannot and will not fail."

The final event of the day was a sketch intended to reveal the resistance likely to be met by solicitors, enacted by Mrs. William T. Healey and Miss Mary E. Amend. The same sketch was given by Mrs. Healey and Miss Amend on The Constitution's regular night news broadcast Tuesday night.

Especially requests that all workers be present at meetings were made by Frank H. Neely, president of the Chest, and Arthur Bird, chairman of the campaign. Another luncheon will be held at Taft Hall at 12:15 o'clock today and every day at the same place and hour until the goal of $500,000 is reached to meet the dire necessities of winter for 45,000 Atlanta people.

RESERVE REPORTS GAINS IN PAY ROLLS

combined net operating income for September of $17,476,000 against $10,148,000 in August. Last month's net operating income was only 9 per cent under their September, 1931, level. In August, the disparity was 41.4 per cent.

The September comparison with a year ago was the best to be reported for any month to date. Last month's figures showed that the 21 roads enjoyed larger net operating incomes than in September, 1931.

In August, 1932, only four of the same 21 roads did better than in August, 1931.

THE SUN OIL COMPANY TO PAY EXTRA DIVIDEND

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Directors of the Sun Oil Company today declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share. The extra dividend is the first declared since 1930. Both are payable December 15 to stockholders of record November 25. The regular dividend of $1.50 a share on preferred stock, payable December 1 to stockholders of record November 10, also was declared.

700 PERSONS GIVEN WORK IN NEW ORLEANS MILLS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Lane Cotton Mills here announced today that 700 additional employees had been added to its pay rolls, bringing the force up to 1,600.

INCREASE PREDICTED IN GRAIN MOVEMENT

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A rail movement of grain during the last three months of this year of nearly twice the size of that during the same period a year ago was forecast today by the grain committee of the northwest shippers' advisory board at its fall meeting here.

It predicted that 53,000 cars of grain will be shipped compared with 28,538 during the last three months of 1931. Of this year's car requirements, it estimated that 31,000 would be needed for wheat, rye and flax shipped into terminal markets.

BUSINESS BRIGHT SPOTS, BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A gain of $11,000,000 in bank deposits last week in the seven western states comprising the twelfth federal reserve district was reported today by the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank. Deposits in demand accounts rose $10,000,000 while there was an increase of $1,000,000 in time deposits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—W. H. Phelps, president of the American Can Company, said today indications point to a revival in the food canning industry in 1933. A shortage in many items has been disclosed, he said, with an approach to normal consumption.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The foreign demand for American-made automobiles and trucks increased 9 per cent in September over August, the commerce department reported today. Car and truck exports amounted to $2,661,180 during the month.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—With one road topping 1931 figures for the second successive week, freight business of western railroads continued on the upgrade last week. Missouri, Kansas and Texas not only surpassed last year's business but showed a gain over the week ending October 15. Freight business of the Wabash increased 6 per cent and of the St. Louis-San Francisco line was 1.5 per cent ahead of the previous week.

NATIONAL WOOD PRODUCTS AT CAPACITY PRODUCTION

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 25.—Both the Michigan and Oregon plants of the National Wood Products Company, a subsidiary of Evans Products Company, have been at capacity production for more than a month and or-also appeared in Cook's behalf and asked for the commutation.

The board took immediate action and within half an hour after the hearing began its recommendation was on Governor Russell's desk.

Cook was sentenced to die in April of this year, but his attorney obtained a stay of execution. Afterwards he filed a plea with the prison commission and the clerk of the superior court's office did not have Cook placed in court for sentencing until about two weeks ago.

Three More Pleas Today.

The prison commission will hear applications for clemency from three more condemned slayers today. They are William and Fred Hulsey, father and son, of Polk county, and Tom King, Butte county negro.

er and son, of Polk county, and Tom King, Butte county negro.

The Hulseys are under sentence to die for the slaying of one of three men killed at a poker game near their farm near Rockmart about three years ago. Both are under indictment for the murders of the other two victims of the tragic game.

King, who has been in the Fulton tower seven years, is under death sentence for the slaying of a federal dry agent. He has been sentenced five times, the first four verdicts being set aside by the supreme court. A large delegation of Butts county citizens is expected to be present at the hearing today to ask commutation of King's sentence.

BERRIE CONVICTED, FACING LIFE TERM

for months, collapsed and died in convulsions last March 21 after taking a capsule at a church service.

The minister married Ida Bess May 17. She was exonerated by authorities of any connection with the poisoning.

A grand jury returned a murder indictment after Mrs. Fannie Berrie's body was exhumed August 3 at the request of her sister, Mrs. Clem Trotter, of Sentinel, Okla. Mrs. Trotter testified to Berrie's apparent lack of grief at his wife's death and said his subsequent early marriage had caused comment.

State's chemists then reported "poison sufficient to kill" was found in the viscera of the dead woman. Berrie was charged with murder six days later.

Apparently confident through more than two months in jail, the hymn writer turned once more to verifications for solace, reiterating his innocence and the conviction he would be acquitted.

A fat packet of love verses, purchased by Berrie, was found in his possession.

"What on earth are you up to now?"

"FINDING things out, smarty! I thought I'd examine the tobacco in a cigarette."

"Look here... this is Chesterfield tobacco. Notice its lighter color... you don't see any dark heavy types, do you? I guess that's why Chesterfields are milder."

"I'm told that uniformly lighter color is due to cross-blending. It sort of welds all the tobaccos into one."

"And here's something else. Notice that these long shreds are all cut the same width. It stands to reason they burn smoother and cooler."

"I don't pretend to be an expert but it looks to me as if they make Chesterfields right."

Mayfair Club's Harvest Ball Is Colorful Event at Biltmore

Several hundred guests assembled last evening at the brilliant annual harvest ball given by the Mayfair Club members at the Biltmore. Quantities of cornstalks, autumn leaves and pumpkins were used in the effective decorations. The tall columns in the ballroom were entwined with southern smilax, and cornstalks were grouped around the base with golden pumpkins and autumnal fruits giving color to the decorations. Gypsy fortune tellers were encoined in tents erected along the sides of the long room and revealed the fortunes of the guests who were attired in gay costumes.

Receiving the guests were the officers of the club and their wives, including Mr. and Mrs. Mendel Romm, the former being the president of the organization; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lazar, Mr. Lazar being vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Constancy, the former acting as secretary of the club; and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stein, Mr. Stein being treasurer. Miss Ethel Stein was a country maid wearing a dotted gingham with a sunbonnet of red and cream gingham.

Debutante Treasurer Makes Bow At Lovely Luncheon Given at Home

Miss May Latimer, treasurer of the Debutante Club, and her mother, Mrs. W. Carroll Latimer, who were pictured at the luncheon at which Miss Latimer made her formal bow yesterday at her home on Brighton road. Photograph by Bill Mason, staff photographer.

Before a background of colorful dahlias and other fall flowers, Miss May Latimer, debutante daughter of Mrs. W. Carroll Latimer, made her formal bow at the luncheon at which she entertained yesterday at 1 o'clock at her home on Brighton road. Mrs. Latimer assisted her daughter in entertaining her guests, who included only members of the season's Debutante Club.

A color motif of pink was carried out in the dining room, where the central table was decorated by a silver basket holding dahlias shading from deep rose to palest shell pink, artistically arranged with ageratum. Pink tapers further reflected the chosen color note. Dahlias featured the floral decoration of the room, where the buffet luncheon was served.

Miss Latimer presented an attractive picture in her gown of black chiffon, becoming to her piquant type of loveliness, with a dainty ruffled collar of sheerest organza adding a chic note. She wore a shoulder spray of white flowers. Her hair was styled in a bun. Mrs. Latimer was gowned in rustic green flax crepe cut on modish lines, and completing her costume was a shoulder bouquet of Talisman roses and valley lilies.

Gleaned From the Notebook of Women's Division of Atlanta Community Chest

BY JANE HILLINGDON.

Years ago it was when she used to recite the lines of "Evangeline" in the public schools of Atlanta. "Silently one by one, in the infinite meadows of heaven, Blossomed the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels."

And today, somehow the picture of a white candle on a blue ground is substituting for the stars, and the rays of those paper candles are brightly shining, because of the light of hope they are taking into forlorn homes, because of the blessed glow of relief they are bringing to people desperate for work, for food, for courage to live. And one by one in the windows of comfortable homes, on the windshields of cars, they are beginning to shine, these beneficent stars of hope.

Presently, they will create a veritable Milky Way, for there will not breathe man nor woman with wherewithal to feed their own families who will not share with his less fortunate fellowman and signify his contribution by a candle in his window.

The woman's committee got out early yesterday morning and varying reports are coming in. In some neighborhoods already will be found the blue glow, and in some, where people were out in the city, there is still the gloom of untimely death and promise of relief.

With the supreme energy of Mrs. Arkwright's committee, however, with the exultant banner that they are waving in the air, there can be no person of human kindness in this great city who is not passing in his window the emblem of hope and faith and charity, the emblem that speaks, "I share because I care."

Pen Women's League Will Meet Today.

Atlanta chapter of American League of Pen Women meets this morning at 11 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club. Mrs. Bonita Crowe, the president, and Miss Mozelle Horton will present a musical program. Miss Horton will open with a group of piano solos by Bach, Liszt and Philipp, illustrating three schools in musical literature, including the classic, romantic and the modern schools. The remainder of the program will consist of original compositions by Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Crowe. Mrs. C. E. Drummond Jr., soprano, will sing a song composed by Miss Horton, and a children's suite composed for piano will be offered.

A group of artists will render compositions by Mrs. Crowe, among them being Mrs. Louisa Allensworth, soprano; Mrs. Margaret McMillan, soprano; Miss Santa Mueller, violinist, and Mrs. Marjorie Griffith, harpist, and Mrs. Crowe will play the piano accompaniments. Mrs. Crowe has won distinction for her compositions as three of her songs were sung last April at Washington, D. C., at the National Pen Women's convention and at San Francisco.

Miss Caroline Duncan entertains at a luncheon Wednesday, November 30, at her home on Piedmont avenue in compliment to Miss Caroline Selden, who will be central figure at a luncheon to be given Thursday, November 17, by Mrs. William H. Schroeder and Miss Betty Schroeder.

Miss Mary Letimer and Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith will be central figures at a tea Wednesday, November 30, when Mrs. George Lowndes entertains a group of the debutantes in their honor.

EACH DAY THE WOMEN OF AMERICA vote for their favorite COFFEE

What political candidate could stand the searching test of a daily vote—and stay very long in office? But that's the test the A & P Coffee Trio stand.

Their taste and quality cannot vary or their popular favor would be lost. For taste and quality alone, the women of America buy more of the A & P Coffee Trio than any other three coffees in the world. And every day more women rally around the A & P Coffee Standard. And remember, the coffee you like best is the best for you, no matter what it costs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Candler Observe
50th Anniversary in Charlotte, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, C. Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy Candler, pioneer citizens of Decatur, Ga., will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary today by entertaining a large party at the home of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Candler. This prominent and beloved couple will be joined today by their four children including Mr. and Mrs. Scott Candler and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Candler of Decatur, and Rev. and Mrs. T. Wilds, of Georgia. Their grandchildren will also be present, including Mamie Wilds, Annie Wilds, Mrs. J. R. and Mrs. H. H. Lawner, Rebekah Candler, Marion Lawrence Candler and Scott Candler Jr. Mr. Candler was born in Decatur, Miss., and has since 1882 been a Congressman. Milton A. Candler and Mrs. Eliza Murphy Candler. He was educated in the Decatur schools, and in the University of Georgia, from which institution he was graduated in 1877.

Mrs. Candler, the former Miss Mary Candler, was the daughter of George Washington Scott, and his wife, Rebekah Scott, of Tallahassee, Fla., who after a yellow fever epidemic, moved to Decatur on account of its more healthful climate. Colonel Scott was the father of the late founder of Agnes Scott College, and the donor of the greater part of the land on which the college now stands. Mrs. Candler was educated in the schools of Decatur.

After their marriage on October 28, 1882, Mr. and Mrs. Candler lived on the corner of Third and Third and a half square, where the Watkins building now stands, and their eldest child, William Wilds, a Harvard graduate, was born in the home. Their second moved later to their present residence at 158 South Candler street.

Mr. Candler was one of the charter members of the Agnes Lee chapter, U. D. C., and is a past president of that organization.

His daughter, the trustee of Agnes Scott College, was president of the University of Georgia Alumnae Association, and for many years was chairman of the Georgia public service commission.

Mrs. Candler, the former Miss Mary Scott, is the daughter of the late George Washington Scott, and his Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your letters held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am in despair over my failure to win the confidence of my two children. Since they were tiny I have tried to teach them that they should never fail to tell me when they do anything wrong and I have encouraged them to talk over all their affairs with me. Yet now they are grown or practically grown and I am never sure what either of them is thinking or feeling and I am sure that comes close to their hearts. Please tell me how I have failed and how I can get this thing straight. Every mother desires to have confidence.

MRS. J. D. V.

his elders. Don't make the mistake of squeezing these young people too tight. It will only serve to make them resentful and more uncommunicative. Don't put pressure on them by insisting on going into the tender hearts and minds of these adolescents. It will only serve to make them sore.

If you will only stop and think, you will realize that you do know what they are thinking and feeling—just as you, yourself, thought and felt at their age. They are struggling with emotions, new and strange. They are mastering a language foreign to their native

ANSWER: There is no reason to believe that you have failed in your duty to your children, but there is reason to believe that you have failed to understand two very important points: One, that every individual child is entitled to the privacy his nature desires and that not even a mother has the right to invade that privacy. The other point is that at the very moment of approaching adolescence, and for that matter, well into the adolescent years, is entering a new world. The child stands at the threshold on which he or she opened baby eyes. The first experience was characterized by complete dependence upon the mother that he or she down the baby's cradle. The second is characterized by complete independence upon the mother who still hovers near, yearning to be leaned upon, and confided in.

But the young person, like the birdling trying weak wings, knows instinctively that he can only become competent to meet the new conditions, and to find his way in the new world, by making his own decisions without the maze, fighting their way to the light, and they resent the intrusion of a parent who will delay their finding the light, even though that object be the person of a parent.

There are some inhibited natures that shrink from showing their minds and their hearts to others. This condition may come about from one of two causes: either a very early and disastrous experience with having confided in someone and having had that one betray the confidence, or even more so, but less frequent, the one is young and tender. Any one of these experiences may result in a young person's refusing to confide in anyone. But such instances are rare.

The average child is father to the man, and once your boy has reached man's estate and your daughter womanhood, you will find that the young person for whom and theirs for you will dissolve the mist that hangs between

Ex-Policeman Refuses Half Million, Demands Time To Consider Request

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25. —(AP)—A blue monoplane glided to earth at Kansas City Airport today and testified that George C. Gray, handsome, young and jobless former policeman, was wondering why a newspaper personal had asked him to meet it.

A few moments later he was wondering if he was really here to half a million dollars.

Gray introduced himself to a distinguished looking man who stepped from the plane, said he was a west coast lawler and asked:

"Did you ever know a Donita Schambers?"

Gray said he had known such a woman. Eight or 10 years ago, when working for a Los Angeles brokerage firm, he had tried to sell some real estate. Two years ago she adied, though, it seemed only a pleasant memory at the time.

"I guess I'll have to leave that hotel to you."

The lawyer said Mrs. Schambers' estate had a valuable extraction, had done more than that. Dying in the Hawaiian Islands, she had left all her property, both in Los Angeles and Nome, Alaska, to Gray.

He asked Gray to sign some papers because he was in a hurry to take off for New York.

But Gray demurred. He, too, was in a hurry to find some quiet place where he could think this out. Mrs. Schambers, he said, had seemed grateful for his services, but not half a million dollars' worth.

Despite the brusque lawyer's protestations, he said, he had better hire a Kansas City lawyer and make a trip to the coast to investigate before signing anything.

MIAMI RECALL MOVE

FAILS BY 1,650 NAMES

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—(P)—Petitioners seeking recall of Mayor R. B. Gautier and the Miami city commission failed by approximately 1,650 petition signers of having sufficient to call a recall election, City Clerk Harold Ross announced today.

Ross said that 1,250 names of signers were accepted as being valid of those persons registered to vote in Miami. The other 400 names of the 4,200 names were thrown out, he said, because they did not appear on registration books or because duplication of names was found.

According to the city charter, 15 per cent of the persons registered to vote in the city, or 250, are eligible to call a recall election may be called.

GEORGIA TRAILS U. S.

IN B. AND L. SAVINGS

Although two Georgia cities, Rome and Cartersville, have a higher average per capita savings in building and loan associations than any other state in the Union, Georgia as a whole trails the entire list of states, it was disclosed Tuesday in a survey reported by the National Building and Loan League to officers of the Atlanta Building and Loan League.

Rome has a total of $2,382,000 in building and loan savings, or $10.16 per capita saving of $100.82, and Cartersville has a total of $695,295 in assets in one association, the oldest in the state, or $10.16 per capita of $126.50. Only five states have higher per capita savings in building and loan. They are Maryland with $128.71, Massachusetts with $126.50, New Jersey with $297.42, the highest in the country; Ohio with $174.26 and Pennsylvania with $129.85.

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Detective Chief Charles Tennant said today he was convinced Colonel William Inglis, veteran employment officer, killed himself here Saturday.

night after wounding Miss Mary Nash, his 30-year-old stenographer, in the apartment they occupied together.

Miss Nash, who told authorities she and the colonel were married, was reported slightly improved at the hospital where she had been treated for wounds in the left leg and abdomen.

Authorities have been unable to find a record of the marriage.

Campbell was left alone Tuesday, Campbell, one of the newest members of the fire department.

IF I WERE YOU

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Just after Anthony, Fifth Earl of Droitswich, became engaged to Violet Waddington, daughter of Viscount Widdowes, he was pretty badly hard-boiled as a fashion plate. Mrs. Price, Tony's old nurse, drank too much and was a little bit of a tart, but when Syd Price and Tony were babies, she brought up children in the best manner. Lord Syd was Lord Droitswich's, Mrs. Price was the sister of Slingshot, Tony's mother, and Tony's family was the family of London, insisted upon claiming the title, and the family name was Lord Droitswich. Now, Fredrick Chalk-Marshall, and his uncle and aunt, Sir Herbert and Lady Droitswich, were the only people in the family who were not so hard-boiled as the Cockney brother and his wife. They were "educating" him in the best manner, and he was a very good fellow. This method was suggested by Polly Brown, a pretty American girl who had been married to Lord Droitswich. Lord Langleigh died. His country estate, with the baronetage and the fiefdom, was left to Tony. He told Violet he was not going to contend Syd's claim, she broke their engagement, and he married her.

NOW GO WITH THE STORY.

"Oh, these things happen."
"I suppose so."
A brief silence fell upon the Price (tenorial) parlor. Polly got up and looked at herself in the mirror. Tony picked up a copy of the Tatler and with it made an absent-minded attempt to swat a passing fly. He missed it, and which proceeded on its way with a sneer.
Tony put down the Tatler.
"I say," he said.
Polly turned.
"Yes?"
Tony gave his tie a jerk.
"Talking of engagements . . ."
"Yes?"
"Meech, the barber, speaking to me of his this afternoon."
"Mr. Meech?"
"Yes."
Something thudded on the door. Apparently one of the children whose

INSTALLMENT XXIV.

"Who?" asked Sir Herbert.
"My lady mother," explained Tony.
"Polly escorted her to the chapel."
Violet looked at Polly.
"Polly?" she said silkily. "How nice to know your Christian name."
"What," asked Lady Lydia, puzzled, "does that woman want in chapel on a Saturday?"
"Oh, we pray all the time, we Princes," said Tony.
A great idea flashed upon Lady Lydia.
"Herbert!" she cried.
Violet was still interested in Polly.
"I suppose," she was saying, "you and Lord Droitwich have been seeing quite a lot of each other lately?"
"Yes," said Polly.
"How nice," said Violet.
"Herbert!" cried Lady Lydia, inspired. "I have an idea. Now is the time to go to that awful old woman and try to make her see reason."
A hint of what was passing in her mind seemed to convey itself to Sir Herbert.
"By gad! You mean . . . ?"
"If we meet her as she comes out miss her.

"He shot out of the shop like horses down the scent. Tony turned to Violet.

"Aren't you going with them?"

His manner was distant. So was Violet's.

"I have some shopping to do. I'll leave my car outside and come back for you."

She walked to the door.

"You'll think over what I said?"

"I will."

Violet stared at Polly. It was an unpleasant stare.

"Of course," she went on, "when I said that I was realising all the attractions of life in Prire's barber shop."

"The traditions?"

"The society," said Violet. "Goodbye."

The abrupt departure of the heiress of Waddington's Ninety-seven Soups, the loss of the girl who had been a sudden vanishing of Sir Herbert and Lady Lydia Bassinger, had had the effect of making Polly Brown feel a little freer. Since her fall down the shaving chair and directed her gaze in a bewildered stare at Tony. He, at least, seemed solid in a shifting world, and she would not have been surprised if he had followed what appeared to be the current fashion by making an "emotional dash for the hills."

Since she had returned to the shop, people seemed to have been bolting

Polly. Tony was standing in the middle of the room, twisting his fingers. For he had just used a bottle of Price's Dermal Vitalis and was looking with what seemed to be intense interest at the directions on the label.

"I always thought Mr. Meech was married," said the girl.

Tony shook his head. "Only engaged, at present," he said.

Polly put down the bottle.

"He's been engaged twice," said Tony. "Showing that there is hope for everyone."

"The child who had flung the boot— or perhaps rather child— began to scream loudly and unintelligibly to a second— or possibly a third— child in the street outside. Polly waited till the uproar had subsided.

"Why are you so interested in Mr. Meech?" she asked.

"Not in Meech. Only in his methods," said the girl.

"His what?"

"His methods. His system. His manner of getting engaged."

"Oh!"

"Very educative it was, listening to Meech on his methods."

"What are they?"

Something of the embarrassment which had been afflicting Tony had appeared now to have left him. He had the air of an actor who has been given the right cue.

Aunt Het

asked Polly, "What's the matter?" "Nothing," said Tony. "Just drooling."

His face was illuminated by a happy and contented smile.

They were all seated for the breakfast of all possible worlds. He was free at last, and he expressed his appreciation of the fact by heaving a sigh of relief.

Polly was the cause of having just been caught up in a sort of cyclone. What had caused this cyclone it was beyond her to guess; but she knew the atmosphere was full of vapors and taut tensions when she met one.

"She seemed mad at you," she said. "Aren't you engaged any longer?"

"No," answered Tony.

His voice betrayed a profound satisfaction. The happy light in his eyes grew brighter as he looked at her.

"The ringing bells will not ring out," said Tony.

He gazed at Polly fondly. In his dealings with this girl until this morning he had been a conqueror.

"Cautious?"

"Allusive, if you know what I mean."

"I don't."

"Well, they were sitting in a cemetery, and he asked her how she would like to see his name on her tombstone."

Polly considered this.

"Not so good," was her verdict.

"And yet, on the other hand," argued Tommie, "it's not so bad. It worked."

"She said she would like to see his name on her tombstone?"

"Yes. Not immediately, of course, but after long and happy years."

"And the second?"

"Ah, that was different. You see, the movies had come along by then."

"What had the movies got to do with it?"

"A great deal. They altered the whole method of attack."

Polly wrinkled her forehead.

"He proposed to her in a picture palace?"

SALLY'S SALLIES

ings without which a lover is a spent force from the start. Now, all obstacles between them had been removed; and Polly, though she was not aware of it, was in the presence of a conquering male.

"My engagement, thank goodness," said Tony, "is off."

The occasion seemed one for congratulations, rather than sympathy. Polly inclined her head sagely.

"I think you're lucky," she said.

"So do I."

"I'll never meet a society girl yet who hadn't a heart like a cold fish," said Polly, speaking as one who knew.

"Of course, she's lovely to look at."

"I propose she is."

"Still, what's the good of that?"

"Exactly."

Polly's feminine curiosity deepened.

"What made you get engaged to her?"

This time Polly was wholly appreciative. Women notoriously admire a dasher. Meech rose in her estimation.

"'At-a-boy!' she said.

"'At, as you very justly remark, a boy,' agreed Tony. 'Then I take it that of the two methods you prefer the second?'

"'Of course.'

"'You're sure?'

"'Quite sure.'

The stock market spent a quiet day today waiting for the meeting of United States Steel Corporation directors to determine the fate of that company's preferred dividend, an action that was not taken until after the close.

Prices drifted aimlessly for the most part. Selling was largely for professional account. An early rally, which lifted prices of many leaders about a point, was wiped out toward midday with losses replacing gains.

This decline, which ran from fractions to 3 points, was considerably reduced in the closing hour of trading. At the close, most stocks had registered fractional losses. A few were down as much as 2 points.

Trading fell for the second successive day level. The total was 4,800 shares, a shade over yesterday's total, but still constituting one of the duller days in recent weeks.

Keen interest centered on the common and preferred shares of United States Steel, which vacillated throughout the day, occasional rallies being succeeded by faint declines. The common closed off nearly a point and the preferred lost more than that.

Wall Street opinion appeared to be about evenly divided as to whether the regular $7 annual dividend would be maintained. The company's decision never been out of the question, which has been a source of speculation since the 31 years of existence, was not made known until after the close.

Some special selling centered in a few of the specialties, such as Inc., which declined 1 point, and a number of other specialties, which declined 1/2 point.

Extensive loss money rates again attracted attention. An offer of a substantial sum was reported at 1-2 of 10 for 60-day loans, a figure that probably set a record low for the New York money market.

Weakness in wheat and corn failed to exert appreciable effect on the stock market.

Cotton closed 25 to 35 cents a bale higher.
